To Whom it may Concern,

The idea of the 25 dollar fee is necessary in my eyes. It makes sure that the applicant is serious about the job and not just applying to the first thing that comes up. Anybody can afford 25 dollars. Its not like they are asking for an arm and a leg. If you have a problem paying the 25 dollars then don't get into the business. There are fees for everything in life. If your kid applies for colleges is there not an applicant fee for every school? If there is no fee I feel like any person off the street will apply for the [redacted] and not take it seriously.

Sincerely,
