To Whom It May Concern:

I am a third year apprentice [redacted] New York.

I am writing this letter in regards to the $25.00 application fee, to join the Apprentice Training School. I believe having the school cover this fee for all applicants would be a hardship on the school and take money away to properly educate and provide materials for the enrolled students.

If you are really serious about becoming [redacted] then the $25.00 fee should be the responsibility of the student — not the school. I also believe that everybody and their brother would walk in off the street if the school had to pay the fee. The undertaking of the school to cover this fee would certainly be a burden for the school to carry.

In closing, I hope that you will take my words [redacted] because if you want to be [redacted] you have to earn it.

Sincerely yours,

[redacted]
