In such cases, the employer will make efforts to transfer worker to other comparable employment acceptable to worker. If such transfer is not effective, workers will be returned at Employer's expense to the place from which Worker, without intervening employment, came to work for employer. In the event of such termination, the 3/4-guarantee period ends on the date of termination. The guarantee shall be void from the beginning should the Worker voluntarily abandon this employment before the end of the contract period or in the event the Worker is terminated for lawful job-related reason.

D). The payroll period shall be weekly. Workers will be paid weekly.

E). Employer will provide a U.S. worker referred through the Agricultural Recruitment System forty (40) hours of work for the week beginning with the anticipated date of need, specified in item 6 unless the employer has amended the date of need by notifying the local ESC office at least 10 working days prior to the original date of need. The Employer will offer transportation to and from the daily work site at no cost to the workers entitled to the housing benefit. The use of this daily transportation by eligible workers is voluntary; no worker is required as a condition of employment to utilize the daily transportation to the worksite offered by the employer. Employer will provide free transportation to eligible workers from the housing site to the worksite and return. Workers are always free to choose their own means of transportation at their own expense.

The following paragraphs related to inbound and outbound transportation pertain only to workers who are not within commuting distance and cannot return to their place of residence the same day and are, therefore, eligible for the benefit.

The Employer will not advance transportation and subsistence costs to the place of employment for any worker.

For US workers eligible for the inbound transportation benefit, the Employer will reimburse US workers who complete 50 percent of the work contract period and who are beyond commuting distance the reasonable cost of transportation and subsistence from the place from which the worker has departed to the employer's place of employment. All other criteria for this benefit are identical, as described in this paragraph, for foreign and domestic workers. The employer reserves the right to arrange charter or other transportation to assure the lowest available inbound transportation cost. Such inbound transportation will be at the worker's expense. Workers who do not avail themselves of such transportation, when available, will be reimbursed only the per worker cost of the employer-arranged transportation.

For US workers who complete the work contract and are eligible for the outbound transportation benefit, the Employer will provide or pay for the worker's reasonable cost of return transportation and subsistence from the place of employment to the place from which the worker departed to work for the employer, except when the worker will not be returning to the place of recruitment due to subsequent employment with another employer. If the subsequent employer has not agreed to provide or pay for the worker's transportation to the subsequent place of employment, the Employer will provide or pay for the transportation and subsistence to the subsequent place of employment in lieu of providing or paying for such expenses from the place of employment to the place from which the worker departed to work for the employer. If the subsequent employer has agreed to provide or pay for the worker's transportation and subsistence to the subsequent place of employment the Employer will not provide or pay for such expenses. For foreign (H-2A) workers who came to work from outside the United States, this outbound transportation benefit basis is the place from which the worker has departed will be considered to be the appropriate US consulate or port of entry (employer will pay to whichever point is greatest, as some workers are issued visas at interior consulate posts and some workers receive visas at border consulate posts), as interpreted by DOL in the regulations. All other criteria for this benefit are identical, as described in this paragraph, for foreign and domestic workers. The Employer reserves the right to arrange charter or other return transportation. Workers may select any means of transportation home they choose, however, the reimbursement is limited to the most economical and reasonable common carrier transportation cost for the distance involved. Workers who arrange their own transportation understand they assume all liability and hold harmless the employer for any damages, injuries, and personal or property losses.

The employer will not reimburse, pay for or provide any transportation and subsistence to a worker who does not provide documentation of identity and employment eligibility required to complete INS Form I-9, or who has knowledge at the place of recruitment that he can not perform the duties of the job as described in this job order, or who abandons his employment, or who is discharged for lawful job related reasons. The Employer will provide or pay for transportation and subsistence under this agreement if the worker is terminated because of work related injury and is so certified by a doctor acceptable to the Employer before leaving the place of employment, or is terminated because of an Act of God which makes fulfillment of the work contract impossible, as provided in paragraph 11C, or if the worker is displaced by a US worker the first 30 days of the employment period in accordance with the rule at 20 CFR 655.102(f)(3)(i).

Daily subsistence reimbursement will be paid in accordance with regulations at 20CFR 655.104(h) (1), which refers to 20 CFR 655.104 (g) and is governed by 20 CFR 655.114(a), to workers who are eligible for reimbursement of transportation costs.
