In the event the AEWR is eliminated from the H-2A program during the life of this work agreement, either administratively or legislatively, the employer reserves the right to pay the new wage rate under the new guidelines as soon as it becomes effective.

A. The employer will make the following deductions from the Worker's wages: FICA taxes and State (if applicable) and Federal Income tax as required by law. Cash advances will be deducted in full from the worker's next regular paycheck with the employee's written consent. In determining whether this guarantee of employment has been fulfilled, the employer will count as hours of work offered all hours actually worked. In addition the employer may count hours of work offered all hours for which work was offered and not worked which do not exceed a total of hours worked and hours offered but not worked of the normal work hour. The guarantee described in this paragraph shall not apply if the worker voluntarily abandons this employment before the end of the contract period or in the event the worker is terminated for a lawful job-related reason. The guarantee described in this paragraph shall not apply to an H-2A alien worker who is terminated because of the employer's compliance with the requirement to employ all qualified eligible US workers who apply during the first 30 days of the contract period.

C. The work contract shall be terminated before the end of the Period of employment if the services of the workers are no longer required for reasons beyond the control of the Employer due to fire, frost, flood, drought, hail, other Act of God which makes fulfillment of this contract impossible. In such cases, the employer will make efforts to transfer the worker to other comparable employment acceptable to the worker. If such transfer is not effective, the workers will be returned at Employer's expense to the place from which Worker, without intervening employment, came to work for the employer. In the event of such termination, the guarantee described in paragraph B ends on the date of termination.

D. The payroll period shall be weekly. Workers will be paid weekly.

E. Employer will provide a US worker referred through the Agricultural Recruitment System forty (40) hours of work for the week beginning with the anticipated date of need, specified in item 6 unless employers has amended the date of need by notifying the local SWA office at least 10 working days prior to the original date of need. If the employer fails to notify the order-holding office, then employer shall pay an eligible worker referred through the interstate clearance system $8.48 per hour (AEWR) for the first week, starting with the original anticipated date of need. The employer may require the worker to perform alternative work (general farm labor and maintenance activities) if the guarantee cited in this section is invoked. If the worker fails to notify the order-holding office of his continuing interest in the job no sooner than nine working days and no later than five working days before the date of need, the worker will be disqualified from the above-mentioned assurance. Alternative work will be general farm labor and farm maintenance activities and may include, but is not limited to, cleaning and maintaining migrant housing, pulling and chopping weeds, cutting ditch banks and hedge rows, cutting fire wood for migrant camps, fence mending and the repair and maintenance of farm buildings and equipment.

F. The Employer will furnish to the worker, on or before each payday one or more written statements showing the worker's total earnings for the pay period, his hourly rate and/or piece rate in accordance with the guarantee described in paragraph B. (if applicable); the hours of work which have been offered to the worker, the total hours actually worked by the worker, an itemization of all deductions made from the worker's wages; if piece rates are used, the units produced daily; the worker's net pay; the employer's name, address and IRS identification number.

12. Transportation: In accordance with the regulations found at 20 CFR 655.104(h)(1), (2), and (3) the following paragraphs under section 17 are the terms and conditions, in their entirety, related to the transportation benefit and related subsistence benefit, when applicable, provided under this clearance order.

The Employer will offer transportation to and from the daily work site at no cost to the workers entitled to the housing benefit. The use of this daily transportation by eligible workers is voluntary; no worker is required as a condition of employment to utilize the daily transportation to the worksite offered by the employer. Employer will provide free transportation to eligible workers from the housing site to the worksite and return. Workers are always free to choose their own means of transportation at their own expense.

The employer will reimburse workers' costs of inbound transportation and subsistence to the extent required by the H-2A regulations not later than the date on which the worker has completed 50 percent of the period of employment beginning on the first day the worker is at the place of employment and available for work and the ending date of employment set forth in Item 6. The employer will provide or pay for workers' return transportation and subsistence to the extent required by the H-2A regulations for workers who complete the period of employment set forth in Item 6 or whose services are no longer required by the employer, whichever occurs first. Reimbursement of inbound and return transportation will only be provided to workers upon agreeable completion of the work agreement except when the worker will not be returning to the place of recruitment, due to subsequent employment with another employer who does not agree to pay such costs, in which case the employer only pays for the transportation and subsistence to the next job.

The following paragraphs related to inbound and outbound transportation pertain only to workers who are not within commuting distance and cannot return to their place of residence the same day and are, therefore, eligible for the benefit.

The Employer will not advance transportation and subsistence costs to the place of employment for any worker.

For US workers eligible for the inbound transportation benefit, the Employer will reimburse US workers who complete 50 percent of the work contract period and who are beyond commuting distance the reasonable cost of transportation and subsistence from the place from which the worker has departed to the employer's place of employment. The amount of the reimbursement for transportation cost will be the worker's actual transportation cost from the place from which the worker has departed to the employer's place of employment, and by regulation is not required to exceed the most economical and reasonable common carrier transportation cost for the distance involved. For eligible foreign (H-2A) workers coming from outside the United States, this reimbursement benefit basis is the place from which the worker departed is the place of recruitment which DOL has interpreted in the regulations to mean the appropriate US consulate or port of entry. All other criteria for this benefit are identical, as described in this paragraph, for foreign and domestic workers. The employer reserves the right to arrange charter or other transportation to assure the lowest available inbound transportation cost. Such inbound transportation will be at the worker's expense. Workers who do not avail themselves of such transportation, when available, will be reimbursed only the per worker cost of the employer-arranged transportation.

For US workers who complete the work contract and are eligible for the outbound transportation benefit, the Employer will provide or pay for the worker's reasonable cost of return transportation and subsistence from the place of employment to the place from which the worker departed to work for the employer, except when the worker will not be returning to the place of recruitment due to subsequent employment with another employer. If the subsequent employer has not agreed to provide or pay for the worker's transportation to the subsequent place of employment, the Employer will provide or pay for the transportation and subsistence to the subsequent place of employment in lieu of providing or paying for such expenses from the place of employment to the place from which the worker departed to work for the employer. If the subsequent employer has agreed to provide or pay for the worker's transportation and subsistence to the subsequent place of employment the Employer will not provide or pay for such expenses. For foreign (H-2A) workers who came to work from outside the United States, this outbound transportation benefit basis is the place from which the worker has departed will be considered to be the appropriate US consulate or port of entry as interpreted by DOL in the regulations. All other criteria for this benefit are identical, as described in this paragraph, for foreign and domestic workers. The Employer reserves the right to arrange charter or other return transportation. Workers eligible for this benefit who do not wish to avail themselves of employer arranged return transportation would be provided their outbound transportation and subsistence checks through the grower via US mail. In those circumstances, the grower will distribute the checks as soon as all work is completed, as determined by the employer, and the worker is ready to depart. Workers may select any means of transportation home they choose, however, the reimbursement is limited to the most economical and reasonable common carrier transportation cost for the distance involved. Workers who arrange their own transportation understand they assume all liability and hold harmless the employer for any damages, injuries, and personal or property losses.
